DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities:
 - On page 9, line 28 and on page 13, line 3, delete “of means”.
 - On page 9, line 30 replace “with” with --also--.
 - On page 10, line 16 it is not clear what is meant by the phrase “possible pollution”, as it seems awkwardly placed in the context of the respective paragraph.
 - On page 11, line 15 change “ensure” to --ensures--.
 - On page 12, line 20 change “roller” to --rollers--, and on line 24 delete “already”.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Objections

2. Claims 1, and 22-27 are objected to because of the following informalities: The use of the word “which” is awkward and confusing, and where applicable should be replaced with a legal term such as --said--. Appropriate correction is required.
3. Claim 15 is objected to because the word “means” should be preceded by the word “discharge” in order to properly define the limitations set forth in the claim. Appropriate correction is required.
4. Claims 22-26 are objected to because the use of the word “comprising” is redundant. It is suggested that the second use of the word be replaced with --having-- or --including--.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

5. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

6. Claims 8, 11, and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention. The word “preferably” does not clearly define the limitations set forth in the claims. For example, in claim 8 it is uncertain as to whether the phrase “said roller drives the other roller” is included in the limitations.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

8. Claims 24-26 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Janessen et al. (USPN 6,142,893).

Janessen et al. (hereafter Janessen) discloses a device for processing and skinning poultry carcasses that includes all the limitations set forth in claims 24-26. The device comprises a conveyor and supports (6) for moving and retaining the carcass along the skinning process. It also includes skin-gripping means comprising two meshed rollers (152), rotateable in opposite directions for pulling the skin off in a manner that is perpendicular to the supply direction.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

9. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

10. Claims 1-5, 7-11, 13, 17-21, 23 and 27 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Janessen.

Janessen discloses a device and method for skinning poultry carcasses that is basically the same as that which is cited in the claims listed above except the skinning means does not move in relation to the carcass. In Figures 13a-13c Janessen's skinning process is illustrated, and it can be seen that the carcass disposed on a support (6) moves laterally and horizontally. It would have been obvious to one in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Janessen's device and method by making the skinning means mobile and keeping the carcass stationary in order to achieve a more advantageous angle for contact with the skin.

11. Claims 6 and 22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Janessen as applied to claim 1 above.

Janessen, as modified, discloses a device that includes nearly all the limitations cited in claims 1-11, 13, 17, 19-22, and 27, except the skinning means is not shown with an arm support disposed perpendicular to the supply direction. Janessen does not specify how the skinning means is mounted to the main body of the machine, however upon examining Figures 4 and 4a, it can be seen that the carcass travels on along path (5) and then proceeds through stations 10-30. The processing installations at stations are mounted on arms (44, 52, 56) perpendicular to the supply direction (5). It would have been obvious to one in the art at the time the invention was made to also mount the skinning means to Janessen's machine on an arm in a similar manner.

13. Claim 12 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Janessen, as applied to claims 1, 7, 10, and 11 above, and further in view of Harben, Jr. (USPN 3,714,682).

The device disclosed by Janessen, as modified, includes all the limitations set forth in claims 1, 7, and 10-12 except one of the rollers does not have only a middle section that has a corrugated surface. Harben, Jr. shows a poultry skinning machine Figures 1 and 2. He teaches the use of one roller (50) in a set, having only a middle portion that has a corrugated or serrated surface. It would have been obvious to one in the art at the time the invention was made to modify Janessen's device with Harben, Jr.'s roller in order provide more precise contact with the skin.

Allowable Subject Matter

14. Claims 14-16 are objected to as being dependent upon a rejected base claim, but would be allowable if rewritten in independent form including all of the limitations of the base claim and any intervening claims.

15. The following is a statement of reasons for the indication of allowable subject matter:

The prior art of record failed to show a discharge means as described in claims 14 and 15. It also fail to show a connection between roller movement and perpendicular movement of a skinning means as cited in claim 16.

Art Unit: 3644

Conclusion

16. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. The following patents are cited to further show the state of the art with regard to poultry skinning devices.
